

Micro-Moth Recording Day

Sunday 16th September, 10AM–4PM

Kincraig Wood, by Kingussie

Entry: Free (Booking Essential)

Are you interested in recording moths and looking to improve your micro identification skills?

Come along to Kincraig Wood on Sunday 16th September for a day recording micro-moths, with a focus on recording species from leaf mines. We will be joined by Dr Mark Young who will provide expert advice on identification of larval mines, and all things mothy! Some prior knowledge of micro-moth species would be advantageous. (Places are limited so booking is essential)

We will meet at Kincraig Community Hall before heading to the nearby woodland. The day will run from 10AM to approximately 4PM. Please ensure you dress for the weather and wear suitable footwear as we will be spending a lot of time outside. Light refreshments will be provided along with equipment for use on the day, but please bring a packed lunch and plenty of water.

For more information, and to book a spot please email
Kate Smith: ksmith@butterfly-conservation.org